

Dear Related

I am writing this motivation letter for the Barista advertisement you have published. I am currently working as a full stack developer at a large company. However, it is very difficult to live because of the economic problems in my country. And I think it's a great opportunity for me to see your ad right at this time.

I started my barista career in 2014. During my career, I have participated in many trainings and competitions that will contribute to my professional career. At the same time, I graduated from Istanbul University Economics department.

My interest in my profession started when I was in high school. Since those years, I felt that I needed to constantly update my information. That's why I started working at Just company. During my undergraduate education, I tried to closely follow the trends in the field of coffee. I have tried to update the accuracy of the information I have obtained with new studies that are constantly published. In order not to neglect reading international works, I tried to improve my reading, writing and listening skills in English. I would be very glad to work with you in order to improve myself in this field and become an even more expert by closely following current publications. It will be a great opportunity for me to work with you in this field.

I am currently studying German at the A1 level. Although I am far behind in this matter, you can be sure that I will improve myself most quickly when you accept me.

Thank you very much for taking the time and reviewing my application. I will be looking forward to the positive news from you. Stay with health.

Semih KENAR